River, flow; my, my, how fast. Reaching for the sky,...
Wings among the leaves and branches; newborn baby cries.
Fairy tales; oh, fairy tales - the world, when we were young:
Ships & sails, and little pails; the things which we'd become.

River, flow; my, my, once gone. Feeding deep in earth,...
Rustling in long green grasses; sleeping infant stirs.

River, flow; my, my, how near. Dozing by the fire,...
Chocolate and silky furs; all that we desire.
Fairy tales; oh, fairy tales - the world, secure in love:
Tricks & toys, and simple joys; relaxing, in a hug.
